

Opening Ceremony

BY TISH DAHMEN
Wave Editor

1-17-01

Western performing artists entertained between 100 and 150 international athletes at the Nordic Fest's opening ceremonies held Thursday evening, Jan. 11, at the Wasatch High School auditorium.

Officials from SLOC and the International Ski Federation were also on hand to review Wasatch County's ability to "put on a show" for the upcoming 2002 Olympics.

SEE "CEREMONY" ON PAGE A3

Wave photos by Tish Dahmen

Wave Publishing

Staff

Utah Press Association Member
National Newspaper Association Member
Established March 23, 1889

PUBLISHER	Dick Buys Sue Buys
General Manager	Paul McFee
Managing Editor	Laurie Wynn
News Editor	Tish Dahmen
Sports Editor	Courtney Gressmen
Contributing Writers	Margo Black Irene Hastings Kathleen Haynes Diana Mauck Jan Patterson Cynthia Sedwick
Pagination	June Muir
Office Manager	Nancy Davis
Office	Melanie Townley Karen Davis
Printing Relations &amp; Classifieds Manager	Mona Clyde
Advertising Manager	LaRee Pedro
Advertising Sales	Dave Godfrey Barbara Christensen Cara Webster
Marketing Director	Bruce Welch
Graphic Design	Annette Motley Joanne Archbold Tara Caimi Keri McWhirter Angi Holdaway
Production &amp; Press	Jay Provost Dan Carlile Randi Harrison-Carlile Jennie Ferreira Donna Harrison Daren North Ken Hastings Kari McFee
Stuffing Crew	Ed Bitterman Cody Horrocks Dixie Humbles Gordon Dunn Mike Ford

DEADLINES

Inserted Flyers	Thursday, noon
Display Advertising	Friday, 4 p.m.
Display Classifieds	Friday, 4 p.m.
Classifieds, Legals,

BY PAUL JACOBS
Guest Commentary

The most ethical presidential administration in U.S. history was:
(a) The George Washington Administration (1789-1797).
(b) The Thomas Jefferson Administration (1801-1809).

(c) Either the First (1885-89) or the Second (1897-1897) Grover Cleveland Administration.

(d) The William Jefferson Clinton Administration (1992-2000).

If you said "not (d), anyway," give yourself a gold star.

Yet such was Mr. Clinton's pledge eight years ago: that he would supply us with the most ethical administration in our history.

Perhaps it depends on what the meaning of "ethical" is.

For philosophers, ethics pertains to the nature of right and wrong human choices. To be ethical involves, first, knowing what is right, then-and this part is crucial-actually doing what is right. So, suppose you are able to do the right thing as you know it (for example, to be honest, kind, straightforward) but instead you do the wrong thing (are deceitful, mean, manipulative). That would be wrong. Ordinary people tend to agree with the deep thinkers on this one. Morality means doing the right things, not the wrong things.

Career politicians, however, are a breed apart. Too often what matters to them is not right and wrong but the appearance of right and wrong. In order to demonstrate ethical well-being, then, one must merely avoid apparent impropriety.

It's a complicated theory, but the bottom line is that if you can get away with it, it goes. And maybe on those grounds Mr. Clinton has indeed pulled off the most ethical administration in U.S. history. (Well, perhaps it depends on what the meaning of "get-away-with" is.)

I don't want to rehearse all the scandals and lies, all the investigations and years to Bill Clinton's office, back to that Brand seeming to do the right at least number two or three presidential agenda.

It is the new chief executive in office, January 21, 1993, "called on his White House to uphold the highest possible standards and to put the American people ahead of politics," according to the president, than an hour after assuming office, President issues an executive order on government employment, government agency, years after leaving office, the appearance of impropriety. Ethics, as Bill Clinton the word.

Career politicians, however, are a breed apart. Too often what matters to them is not right and wrong but the appearance of right and wrong.

Well, that was then and now. The patina of ethical purity has bit over the past eight years, well scrub it off entirely; a one more violation of the this late date? So now, in